1977-1978 Volume 20

Striking contrasts of 1977-1978 find symbolic expression as warmth of the sun's rays sparks enthusiasm (Top, Above) at the September 8 outdoor pep rally during sixth period on the day before the Moeller game. . . and frosted tree branches form an artistic frame for Princeton High School (Above) amid snow drifts during the somber days of January and February.

Silhouetted by the early evening sun (Left), last year's graduates return to the high school lobby to pick up their yearbooks on Thursday, September 8, 1977.

Quest Carries Vikings To Varied Challenges As PHS Comprises Miniature World

QUEST began as many, diverse challenges confronted 2,933 Princeton students in 1977-1978, who through their number and their specialization—2,391 at the high school, 403 in Scarlet Oaks and other campuses of the Great Oaks Joint Vocational School District, and 139 at Princeton Valley East—derived the training, knowledge, support, and guidance of others, learning thereby to take useless things and make them useful, to bring sightless bounds into view, to make the impossible possible—to apprehend their problems and turn, instead, those hindrances into beneficial parts of their lives.

...Princeton High School, then, was a "miniature world," and, as in the "real" world, its students became its leaders. Though their real "tests" were not taken here, as a tribute to their beginnings, part of their QUEST is now recounted through the words and pictures of a story told in The STUDENT PRINCE by:

Vikings Remedy Knowledge Thirst In Varied Array Of 300+ Courses

Remedies for the universal "thirst for knowledge" were no more readily provided than in the vivid array of 300-plus courses offered to PHS students in 1977-78, ranging from innovative orchestration to practical experimentation.

...As PHS students labored to become "'Vikes' of all trades" teachers and administrators helped them assess the progress of their efforts through class tests and, as well, through standardized testing, assisting both students and counselors in improving each individual's curricular program. □

PHS Activities Offer Variety, Something For Everyone

In an effort to find relief from occasional drudgery of school work, PHS students formed and supported extracurricular groups in '77-'78.

...Cultures in language clubs, points of art, student rights, wheeling down a country road with wind in one's hair—there was "something for everyone."

...Clubs and organizations have always been a part of the Princeton atmosphere, and with concerned leadership of interested staff, continued their active role. Aspects of academics and sports combined into entities unique from anything else in school.

...Numerous experiences from friends made and places visited made activities a long-to-be-remembered part of 1977-78 QUEST. □

Vikes Exert Energy In 21 Varsity Sports As Gyms and Fields Strengthen Wills, Bodies

Besides the classrooms that promoted strengthening of the mind, there were larger "classrooms" that permitted strengthening of the will and the body during '77-'78. These "classrooms" were the gyms and fields and courts that reinforced school spirit and renewed the meaning of the word "teamwork."

..."Vikes" took the opportunity in 1977-1978, exerting their energy in soccer, swimming, basketball, cross-country—in all, 11 varsity sports for men and 10 for women. □

Practice Hours After Classes Lead Vikes To Excellence

Trying things that are new was part of the quest of the PHS student in 1977-78, just as much as was "sticking to it" and learning to do it well. The excellence which is associated with Princeton was a result of many long hours of hard work and persistence, whether it was in a well-lit art classroom or in darkened halls long after school had been dismissed.

...For some, practice was hard physical labor, for others, purely a mental exercise, and—for many—a combination of the two.

...But the Viking spirit that helped them turn hours of sometimes painful practice into years of success was more than just a "stubbornness"—it was, instead, a willingness to assert oneself to dare to do the impossible. With failure, came the new, stronger drive to win, and with success came the responsibility to maintain the prestige that it brought. □

Joy and Sorrow Found at PHS As Emotions Color Quest

Quest continued and with it came feelings of joy and sorrow, wonder and amazement—of all the overpowering expressions that faces showed in '77-'78. . . .Without these, questions could never have been asked. Without these, words meant nothing. Without the sparkle of an eye or a glint of light from a shining smile, individuals were just part of the "flowing masses." . . .This important myriad of emotion which could not be overlooked at PHS, became, therefore, an integral part of the 1977-1978 school year and a key component of the 1977-1978 Student Prince, as well. . . .The "real" color on these two pages is not in the dyes used to print them, but is more importantly in the images cast onto the film of the photographer's camera. □

Vikings Join Outside World In Quest For Stability

Quest for peace and stability in daily life internationally and locally established the perspective beyond walls of PHS in which Vikings searched for their own identity within classes and halls of the school in '77-'78.

...While Rhodesia and South Africa sought racial harmony and Cuban military forces joined in border battles along the "Horn of Africa", President Anwar Sadat of Egypt and Prime Minister Menachem Begin of Israel undertook personal diplomacy to search solutions for long-standing conflict between their own countries.

...Within America, the nation's 39th President, Jimmy Carter, faced frustration during his first year in office as close friend/ budget director Bert Lance left office amid Congressional inquiry into his personal finances, and proposed programs for energy, tax, and welfare reform withered under Congressional opposition.

...Locally, the ravages of the May 28, 1977, Beverly Hills fire continued to take lives when the 165th victim died on March 1.

...Adding to challenges, snow in '77-'78 outdrifted the record set in '76-'77 with a new total of 53.8 inches, remaining on the ground a record-breaking 61 days, as the UMW strike caused cut-back in electricity early in '78.

...While world-renowned singers Elvis Presley and Bing Crosby and former VP Hubert Humphrey were among famous people who died in '77-'78, Cincinnati Reds saw their dreams of fame fade as they finished 10 games off the pace behind the LA Dodgers in their unsuccessful bid for three straight World Series Championships. □

Vikes Pound Turf, Typewriters As Vacation Draws to End

While many PHS students found their own way of wiling away the time late in summer, others returned to school amid blazing sun when athletes bit the dust and pounded turf in practice sessions as early as August 15.

...Among others returning to school before end of vacation, Odin's Word editors prepared their opening-day edition for Tuesday, August 30 —a full week earlier than in past years, based upon School Board decision in 1976-1977—when they punched typewriters in Room 108 from Thursday, August 18.

...As band members separated their right feet from their left in band camp—August 22-26—school employees completed polishing corridors while private contractors laid concrete outside of school, completed renovation of Matthews Auditorium and the swimming pool, and laid carpeting within various offices of the building. □

Mid-October Festive Days Re-Dedicate PHS Auditorium

Eight festive days of learning and entertainment inaugurated the re-dedication of Matthews Auditorium, which had been closed during the summer months for extensive $400,000 renovation of the stage and the auditorium's acoustic structure.

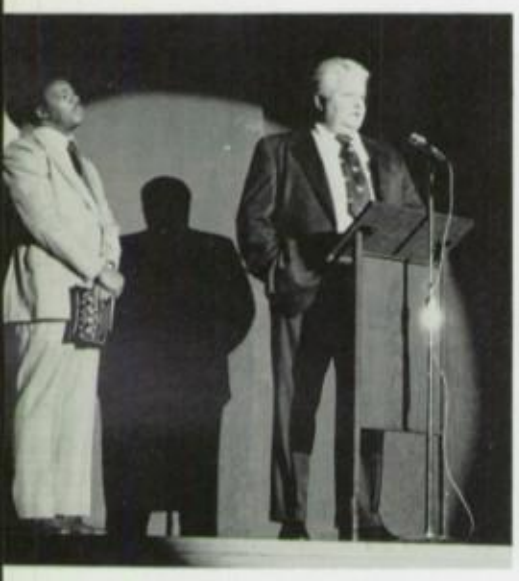
Workshops, Open Rehearsals Bring Talent To Community



The week of October 16-23, 1977, saw students treated to workshops and open rehearsals and the general public offered, for a mere $2.00, a greater saturation of both amateur and professional talent than it has been since Matthews Auditorium opened in 1958.

Fall Festival Plays Key Role In Cultural, Social Life

Both behind the scenes and in front of the stage, the Fall Festival of the Performing Arts benefited the stage crew and light crews, dancers, singers, actors, musicians and technicians —all those that either came to its performances or made the shows come off smoothly. This was true since all social, economic, and ethnic segments of the community were served— representing values in society that are modeled by adults and perpetuated by youth.

...The Fall Festival of the Performing Arts became one of the spectacular highlights of 1977-78; and because of cooperation showed by the school and the generosity of Princeton's community, and because of its long-lasting effects, the Fall Festival will have remained one of the greatest Princeton accomplishments for many years preceding it.

...Because of its importance, because of the number of people it affected and involved, because of its future historical impact, the week of October 16-23, 1977, has been presented here at length, making The Fall Festival of the Performing Arts a key part of the 1977-78 Quest. □

Change of Pace Leads Vikings From Classrooms Into Assemblies

Assemblies of all types during 1977-1978 offered a change of pace from classroom routine for Princeton students.

...Beginning the year with a schoolwide, outdoor pep rally at the Viking stadium on Thursday, September 8, PHS students cheered for the varsity "eleven" as they looked ahead to the season-opener the next night—a 35-7 loss here to Crusaders from Moeller.

...Other assemblies, but in traditional format, provided seminars on the performing arts, workshops on aspects of theatre, and appearances by performing groups during the first-ever Fall Festival on school days from October 17-21, before the re-instituted Gospel Chorus

Rock Concert Appeal Varies For Vikings During '77-'78

Differing views by PHS students about local rock concerts reflected variations amid more than two dozen groups appearing in Cincinnati during '77-'78.

...''Concerts have been really great'' was the comment by junior Ron Burgdorf, while senior Rick Culver said, ''I think the concerts were too expensive, and there weren't enough good ones during the winter time.''

...But, as Elvis imitator Rick Saucedo appeared at LeSourdsville on September 3, many groups held the stage at Riverfront during '77-'78, including Aerosmith, Blue Oyster Cult, Chicago, The Commodores, Peter Frampton, Jethro Tull, Kiss, Labelle, Steve Miller, and Styx— appealing to varied tastes in music. □

'Pajama Game' Nets $2,727 For Senior Scholarship Fund

Unexpected twists in romance mingled with popular show tunes such as "Hey, There", "Steam Heat", and "Hernando's Hideaway" to entertain near-capacity crowds on November 10 and 12 in Matthews Auditorium—after the special performance for students in the morning on November 9—as faculty and staff presented their fifth annual fall musical.

...By a twist of irony, opponents in the operation of the Sleep Tite Pajama Factory overcame differences involving a 7½¢ hour wage increase and grievances over physical harm to workers as the love bug bit Sid Sorokin (Dave Staubitz), factory superintendent, and Babe (Linda Lightfoot) grievance group head; and Hines (George McNeal), time-study man, and Gladys, a secretary.

...But after all the sets had been struck, long hours of rehearsal under direction of Wanda McCollum/Joan Shreiner, orchestra direction by Charles Atkinson, and choreography by Elli Lammi/Sharon Tyahur, the play netted $2,727.31 for the senior scholarship fund. □

Peppermint, candy canes, and laughter made the ideal setting for the annual PHS children's play, this year The Clown Prince of Wanderlust, in Matthews Auditorium on December 1-3 under the direction of Mrs. Jean Renz and with music by junior Frank Tafuri.

...Four shows—three for elementary school children and one for the public—entranced youngsters by vivid portrayal of characters and interesting young person's plot.

...The Wanderlustians spent the show in an effort to win a reward offered by the King (Jim Jackson) for making his daughter, Princess Rose-Violet (Kay Atkinson), laugh. She had to marry evil Grand Bunkleman (Craig Daggett), but was saved by Juan of Evergreen (Mike Helm), who fell into a vat of peppermint and drew her laughter—making him the Clown Prince of Wanderlust. □

Christmas Season Brings Joy, Good Tidings To PHS Students

The annual season of universal joy and good tidings for mankind, Christmas, was welcomed by PHS students in 1977-1978 with a variety of well-planned events, beginning with the annual Music Christmas Tree Sale on December 9-11.

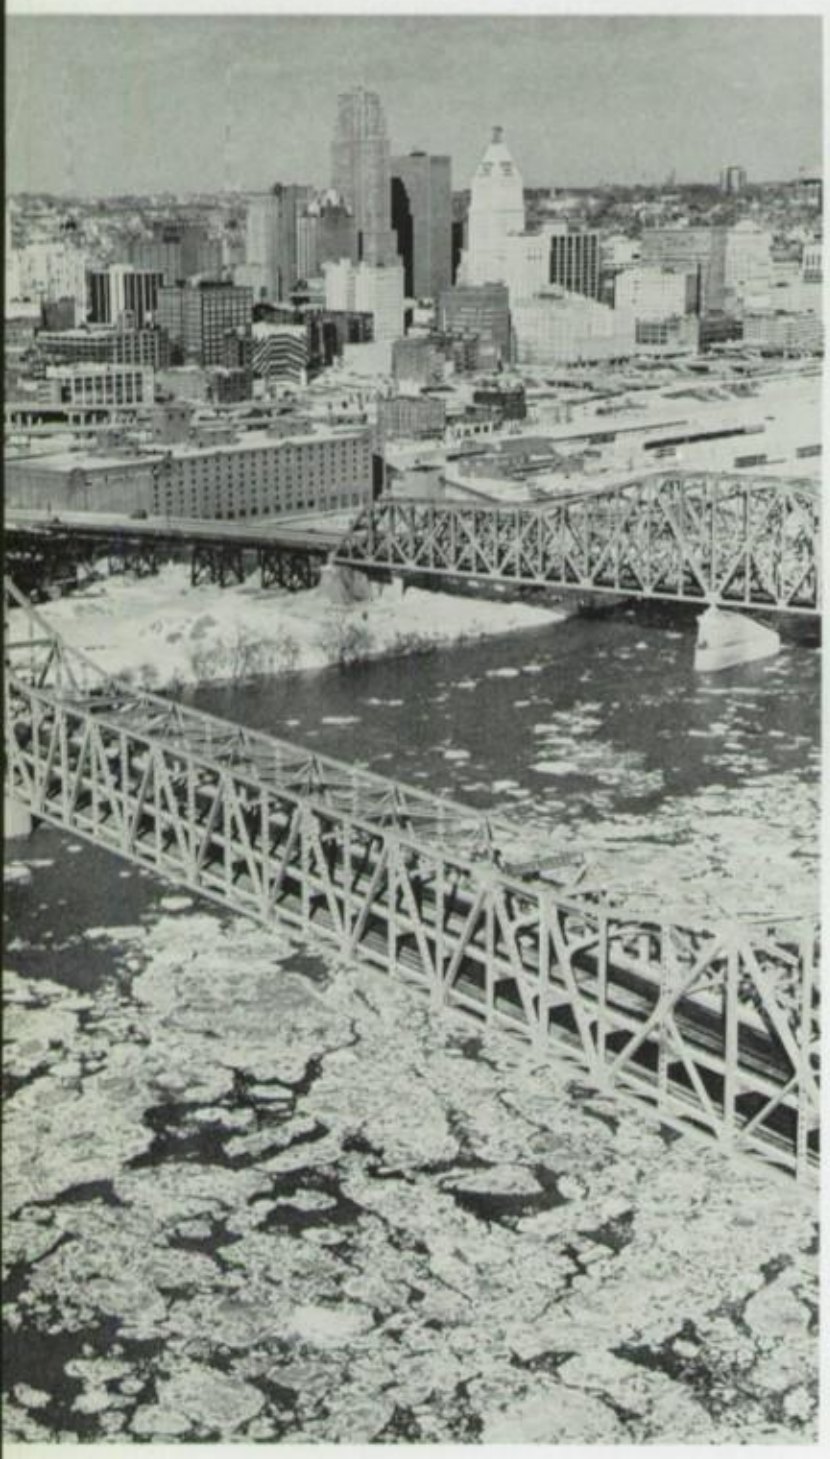
An ever-growing blanket of snow (Right) surrounds Princeton High School on January 22, 1978, serving as a reminder of increasing energy consumption.

Ice floes sail by Cincinnati (Below) on Friday, January 27, 1978, as river residents prepare for 52-foot floodstage while Cincinnati coal stockpiles drop to a 55-day supply, as reported by CG&E.



Harsh Winter Reinforces Message: World Faces A Crisis in Energy

In the past, the question of energy has posed problems solely to scientists, economists, researchers, and legislators around the world. But at home, as a result of severe weather conditions experienced across the country during the winter of 1977-1978—and of the prior winter—the public has found itself rudely awakened into dealing with those same issues that had previously been confined to the realm of the professional.

...In the east and midwest, snow, cold, and the 112-day coalminers' strike helped intensify the immediacy of the issue.

...As reported by the Cincinnati Post on January 14, 1978, in Cincinnati during this second "winter of records," 522 heating degree days[1] had been recorded. The normal for one season is only 408, but Cincinnati had already exceeded that normal by 114, with a winter that would not officially end until March 21.

Of course, this meant more energy usage and, means that if, according to many experts, the trend of colder, longer winters continues, the needs will rise still higher.

...Besides 12 feet of snow in Boston, drought and then flood in California and the west, the world looked to drought and famine in India and the east, inflating oil prices in the mideast, and gas and oil shortages over most of Europe.

...Yet, however global energy concerns may appear, the bulk load of responsibility lies with a handful of countries and, due to the slowness of usual legislative processes, probably lies mainly with the consumer, both from the standpoint of usage and of contribution to the world energy supply.

...In the Annual Conference

on World Affairs sponsored by the Cincinnati Council on World Affairs for local businessmen on March 10, 1978, held at the Cincinnati Convention Center, a group of energy experts[2] agreed upon the following points:

1. In order to solve the world's mass energy needs, the majority of sources must be localized, i.e., developed particular to a region's unique resources, and must be treated less so on an international level.
2. Although the brunt of solutions should be regional, a world effort must, nevertheless, be made to limit or even regress from the present level of worldwide energy consumption.
3. Taking into consideration the elements of time, transition, supplies, transportation, impact upon business-fed technological advancement, and drawing from the list of viable or nearly-viable source options available, the two most suitable resources to be developed on an international basis are coal and nuclear energy.

...Many individuals feel that coal and nuclear power are already viable sources for use, and while the two sources are encouraging on a small scale, experts agree that there still is work to be done. Much of the work includes finding and developing new sources of coal and uranium around the world in order to supply different areas and minimize transportation needs and costs.

...The answers are not simple. But luckily there are a variety of answers to choose from which, at present, are being experimented with.

...Besides the nuclear breeder reactor, fusion, and energy generated by solar-thermal, geothermal, fuel cell, tidal, and wind devices, such new and encouraging possibilities as biogas, alcohol fuel from rubbage, and energy from bombarding tritium, from seawater, with LASERS exist as well.

...A final point which experts agree upon is that the energy problem cannot be solved immediately. It will take the concerted effort of both today's and tomorrow's scientists in order to arrive at good solutions. The weather, as just one element of complication, will make their difficult jobs that much harder.

...But in the ever-changing world, and with time, careful guidance, perseverance, and good training, this and future generations of young people will continue to combat the complex difficulties that will arise as part of their QUEST. □

Worst Blizzard -Snow, Sleet- Cripples City, Cancels School

The word for the 1977-78 winter most definitely was "snow" after the first real snowfall of the season was recorded at 5:00 a.m. on November 27, with a generous helping—up to five inches recorded in different parts of Cincinnati.

...Following Christmas break, combinations of snow, ice, and cold continued to bombard the area, culminating in a blizzard which stifled the city in what Governor Rhodes called Ohio's "worst snow blizzard" on January 26, 1978. The five new inches dumped on five old inches of snow and two to three inches of ice and the wind gusts up to 49 mph and 20-below temperatures stranded travelers at Cincinnati Airport and Bus Station. Even the mail did not move.

...And QUEST 1977-78 was there.

Actors Greet Studio Audience Individually In 'Interview'

The evenings of Feb. 16-18 and February 24 and 25 saw a special, double production as the Princeton Studio Theatre presented two avant-garde works for the Princeton public. ...The first, Interview, written by Jean-Claude Van Itallie, amazed the audience when studio theatre players actually began the production by greeting, individually, members of the audience, and then proceeded to have an elaborate and complex on-stage warm-up exercise. ...As the program said, this was "a flexible kind of experimental theatre." □

Following a fifteen-minute intermission, the second play was presented.

...Written by well-known cartoonist-writer, Jules Feiffer, the second piece was a collection of brief sketches where the actors played varied roles representing "charicatures of contemporary lives," in the words of the program notes. In it, Feiffer, author of screenplay for Carnal Knowledge and frequent contributor of cartoons for New Republic magazine, takes a lighthearted look at familiar stereotypes. 'Purlie' Dances Across Stage, Wins Hearts Of Audiences

A new theatrical event was added to the list of other PHS student productions during '77-'78.

...Presented on Friday evening, March 3, and Saturday evening, March 4, as the highlight to Black History Week, the musical Purlie danced its way across the stage of Matthews Auditorium and into the hearts of the crowds that honored cast members and orchestra with standing ovations both nights.

...Directed by Donald Darby and Jean Renz, with Mr. John L. Williams at the baton, the play concerned the efforts of black, pre-segregation Georgians, by Purlie Judson (Kendall Glover), Lutiebelle Gussy-Mae Jenkins (Laura Bates), his family, Missy (Judy Chambers) and Gitlow Judson (Baron Wait), to recover an inheritance from wealthy cotton plantation owner, Captain Cotchipee (Michael Meece), to buy back Big Bertha, the family church, and liberate themselves from the Captain's dictatorial rule. □

Arts Festival Presents Theme —'Excellence'— To Community

"Displays, demonstrations, and musical performances by students, alumni, and adults," is how Mr. Charles Lambert, district instructional and in-service coordinator and general chairman of the Festival of Arts, summed up the '78 Festival, "Excellence in the Arts," held on Sunday, April 9, from noon until 5 p.m. at the high school.

...Originally scheduled for March 5, but postponed due to winter and a change in the school calendar, the Festival presented handiwork in the fields of academics, arts, and music, from throughout the district, during the day's full rostrum of exhibits, demonstrations, and concerts —but minus the traditional dinner served throughout the day. □

The elegant setting of the Netherland Hilton's Pavillion Caprice swung with the sounds of Reid Brannon and the Brass Tracks, as 350 couples and 20 chaperones attended the 1978 Junior-Senior Prom, "Always and Forever."

...Beginning with a four-course menu of appetizers, entree, and dessert, served at 7:15 p.m., the April 22 Prom "got under way" with a medley from the band of disco from the smash movie, Saturday Night Fever. Group, individual, and couple sets of photographs by Arthur David Greenburg taken throughout the evening, door prizes awarded by prom adviser, assistant principal Mr. Ferd Maccioli, lively talk, and brisk dance spilled into the next morning, with formal festivities ending at 1:00 a.m.

...Under the chairship of senior Karen Kraft, and with the decorative direction of seniors Laura Suer and Georgie Weirich, couples were overjoyed and amazed at the extensive live decorations. Vikings Grab League Title 13th Year in a Row

Winning the GMC for the 13th year in a row, Viking gridders finished '77-'78 with an impressive 7-2 mark over-all and 4-0 in the league.

...The Vikings' only two losses came 15-13 at the hands of the Lima Spartans away on Sept. 30 and perennial powerhouse and State Champions Moeller Crusaders, 35-7, here on Sept. 9.

...The season began before an estimated crowd of 9,600 people, who packed the Princeton stadium to see the annual rivalry between the Vikings and the Crusaders.

...The Vikes were in the game for no more than a quarter of play as they had the score tied at 7-all at the end of the first quarter, before Moeller cruised to a 35-7 victory while piling up 305 total offensive yards.

...On the following Friday, Sept. 16, the Vikings faced a rarety by experiencing an open date on their schedule, the first time in 10-game seasons.

...This absence of play did not deter the Vikes as they came back to down the Golden Bears of Upper Arlington the following Friday, Sept. 23, 10-0 at home.

...However, the Lima Spartans slapped the Vikings their second loss of the young season in a close game 15-13 on Sept. 30 on the victors' home field.

...The Vikes returned home to the Chester road gridiron the following Friday, Oct. 7, to play in the Homecoming game, which saw the Vikes win handily over GMC opponent Hamilton Taft, 39-8.

...Princeton then traveled to another Spartan turf, this time at Roger Bacon's home field on Oct. 14 and nailed the Bacon team a 14-13 loss as a missed extra point proved to be the difference in the game.

...Princeton then proceeded to defeat three GMC opponents—Fairfield away 7-0 on Oct. 21, Middletown away 9-8 on Oct. 28, and Garfield here 51-0, on Nov. 4—with the highlight being the Middletown game, in which Steve Fehr kicked a school record 48-yard field goal.

...Fehr's kick broke the old mark of 47 yards held by Rick White during the first Ohio state playoff victory—17-14—over Massillon on November 18, 1972.

...Individual team honors were captured by Bill Leach for MIP offense; Mark Evans, MIP Defense; Alan Mitchell and Randy Turner, MVP Offense; and Bruce Cole, MVP Defense during the '77 season.

Posting a season mark of 12-8 and a GMC record of 5-3, varsity women's tennis combined hustle and skill for a winning slate in fall '77 ...The team was paced by Susan Montgomery, Maria Tafuri, Susan Ecker, and Chris Szovati, whose consistency and spirited play kept the girls on a winning track. ...Because of popularity of tennis, a reserve team was formed this fall as the squad broke even at 2-2. ...Although the '77 field hockey team gave 100% effort, they turned up with a 0-7 record. A tough schedule and young team totally of underclassman were determining factors in the outcome of the campaign, as coach Hazel Hillard looks forward to '78 with a seasoned squad. □

Vikes Dunk 17-4 Season, Reach Dayton In Tourney

Living up to their pre-season expectations, the 1977-1978 varsity basketball team traveled all the way to the Dayton Hara Arena for state regional competition before falling to Withrow 59-60 in the first game for 17-4, over-all.

...The Viking "Five" started their 14-3 regular season on the right foot with consecutive victories—over Lakota, and Roger Bacon—before going down in defeat to St. Xavier 57-47.

...Princeton then proceeded with wins over Woodward and Garfield, and, in one of the most exciting games of the year, defeated GCL powerhouse, Elder, in overtime, 53-52.

...The Vikes have seen no stranger to post-season tournament play, and this year's team proved true, as they swept district competition, downing Talawanda in the first game, 45-41, getting by Taft, 64-61, in game two, and defeating Oak Hills 52-34 to win the right to travel to Dayton for state competition. □

...The Oxford sectional was another bright point as the Vikings scored 286 points to Oak Hills' 206.

...The Fish finished a strong third in the district behind St. Xavier, and Sycamore, and 16th in the state, where the medley relay team of John Werden, Steve Kress, Greg Acus, and Tom Harvey set a school record 1:43.53 to qualify 12th. Tim Brockman dove his way to a 10th place, and Tim Hilk got 10th in the 500 and Greg Szot finished 12th in the 100 breast stroke.

Vikes Improve In the Field, On the Mound For 23-7, GMC

Improving the fundamentals they lacked last year, the varsity "nine" combined excellent defense and superb pitching to finish the '78 season with an over-all 23-7 record.

...Along with the 23 wins the Vikings had this year coach Howard Converse also chalked up his 300th victory in his 12 years—in the finale, 4-1 away over Euclid.

...The Vikes also faired well in tournament action during the season as they finished second in the Queen City Tournament and batted and pitched their way to first place finishes in the Princeton Invitational and in the GMC.

...The baseballers started off the season sluggishly as they lost their first two games in March—to Colerain and New Richmond by scores of 4-1 and 9-2, respectively.

...The Vikings then turned it around as they won their next 12 games before falling to a tough Elder team 11-2 in the finals of the Queen City Tournament.

...The Vikes finished the season winning 11 games and losing only 4, but the one loss that really hurt was in the sectional final, losing to GMC foe Fairfield 10-4.

...Princeton played two more games after that loss and came back to prove themselves by winning both contests. □

Reserves Edge 8-7 Campaign As Frosh Fall To 4-6-1

Barely breaking the .500 mark for the season, the reserve baseball team finished the '78 campaign with a winning 8-7 over-all record.

...The team started out the season by losing the first two games— to Elder and Milford— before defeating Milford 11-1 for their first win.

...The Vikes then ran through spurts of victory and defeat to 3-3 in the GMC and 8-7 overall.

...The freshman baseballers had a disappointing year as their season record slipped below .500 at 4-6-1.

...The unusual tie came about because of the lights-out curfew at Gower Park field at 6:30 p.m., as the team also saw 12 games rained out this spring. □

Having more games rained out than they played, the 1978 women's softball team finished the season at 8-5.

...Individual team awards went to Jennifer Little, MVP, and Dorothy Howard, MIP, as coach Roberta Pohlman commented that Jennifer Little and Barb Nelson were the strongest hitters.

...Pitching was a strong pont of the team as junior Diane Parker hurled an excellent 6-2 record and sophomore Maria Tafuri finished at 2-3.

...Ms. Pohlman added that the team is losing no players, and should go to state next year.

...Having no seniors on the squad, the 1978 women's track team hustled all the way to second in the GMC as the team set two new school records, Terri Shearer in the 100 meter hurdles at a time of 15.9, and Paulette Martin, Kim Neal, Marcie Powell, and Sheila McNeil in the mile relay at 4:11.8, while Coach Lola Jacobs looks to return next spring of a veteran squad. □

Student Prince Meets Challenge, Expands 1977-78 Coverage

In face of distinctively different events and challenges characterizing PHS in 1977-1978, Student Prince staff members attempted to adjust to events by giving six pages in coverage to the "spectacular" week-long Festival of Performing Arts—a first-time event here and a cultural program unrivaled by high schools across the nation...

...by including a two-page essay on the world's crisis in energy to supplement reports on Cincinnati's second, consecutive devastating winter...

...While rising costs in printing brought about an increase in subscription price to $11 during the sales campaign in October and $13 for books sold first-come, first-serve in September '78, 3.029 letters on September 27, 1977, to Princeton families brought 21 responses for parent patronages at a contribution of $2.00 each.

...But winter added distinctive problems as staff members attempted to meet long-range work toward spring deadlines amidst uncertainties of day-by-day school cancellation in January and "early spring break" from January 31 through February 3.

...Meanwhile, honors achieved by 1976-1977 Student Prince served as an inspiration when Renew 1977 was rated All-American by the National Scholastic Press Assn., Medalist by the Columbia Scholastic Press Assn., and A by the National School Newspaper/Yearbook Assn. in its last year of service to scholastic journalism. □

Odin's Word Rises to Occasion, Faces Issues Beyond Princeton

As 1977-1978 brought many challenges internationally, nationally, and locally which affected life of students, Odin's Word rose to the occasion with in-depth features in addition to school news. . . .Topics for center-page spreads during 15 issues this year ranged from the Panama Canal Treaty, national crisis in energy, NAACP suit against Cincinnati and Hamilton County school systems, alcohol/drug problems in Greater Cincinnati, school funding in Ohio, and career opportunities/requirements today. . . .Recognition of the challenging types of stories undertaken by Journalism students came in May with publication of two stories from 1976-1977 —on the NAACP Suit against Hamiton County districts and an HEW suit alleging discrimination within Princeton in assignment of teachers— in an 8-page, "These Struck Our Fancy" booklet, by the Newspaper Fund, Princeton, N.J. . . .Added recognition came as first semester editions received Marks of Distinction in Coverage/Content and in Writing/ Editing from the National Scholastic Press Association, Minneapolis, while the judge wrote ". . .Lots of information . . .represents a wide range of interests and concerns," granting a "First Class" rating. □

Person-to-person, informal discussion and words in print opened many opportunities for communication by Vikes during 1977-1978

Mime Troupe –New to PHS– Speaks Loudly By Quiet Acts

Michelangelo Produces Artwork While PHS Consortium Views Arts

Viking artists and art patrons in the Michelangelo Society and Arts Consortium kept busy in 1977 and 1978.

...Headed by Mrs. Ann Johnson, the patrons accomplished this goal as they attended Chorus Line, California Suite, the concert of Lou Rawls, the Russian Circus and many local performances at reduced rates during 1977-1978.

Biking Vikings Cruise in SW Ohio As Ecology Brightens Outdoors

Biking Vikings went all out in 1977-78 as they planned more than a dozen trips for the year, while the club, sponsored by Mr. Michael Grote, began their second year with ambitious plans.

...Besides League of American Wheelman sponsored rides on Halloween, Thanksgiving, and Christmas, which BVC members attended, they also enjoyed a ride on October 2, which left Fountain Square in Downtown, and ended up 50 miles upriver, where they boarded a riverboat on the Ohio for a ride home.

...Other tours included a "national ride" which left Kings Island on September 15 for either a 50 or 100-mile loop and a 40-mile tour of Southern Ohio River Valley on October 22.

...These varied activities of BVC won recognition nationally when the February bulletin of the League of American Wheelmen highlighted the club's rides this year.

...While Viking Biking members enjoyed the outdoors as they sped along the nation's roadways, Mr. Herbert Rees and the Ecology Club were doing their best to make the outdoors even more enjoyable.

...Besides recycling over 700 lbs. of aluminum, 10 tons of tin and a new high of 105 tons of paper, the club cleaned up the trails at the Relis Nature Center on April 15 and enjoyed trips to Brown County, from October 21-23, and Miami Whitewater, May 12 and 13.

...For the end of the year, the club had two special projects —one was a dinner event, which took them to Victoria Station on May 9, and the second was a picnic at Stonelick Lake on May 21.

...Inspiring their audiences by raising their voices to the Lord, the Gospel Chorus completed a joyous season, during the first semester under director, Mr. John Summers, as performances included two Thanksgiving assemblies and work in the Fall Festival. □

Princeton Pride Inspires Action By Choraliers, Viking Voices

"Pride in Princeton" was a theme expressed in action as varied choral groups performed in concerts at PHS and throughout area communities during 1977-1978.

...Viking Voices—a male performing choral group under direction of Mr. Fred Kennedy—participated in many activities, including the Thanksgiving Service held at St. Michael Church, Sharonville, on Nov. 23; sang at Tri-County Shopping Center on Dec. 12; and appeared in the Music Department's yearly Christmas concert on Dec. 20.

...Counterparts to Viking Voices—the all-female Choraliers—performed at Evendale Elementary School on April 14, after participating in the Ohio Music Education Assn., District 14 competition here on Friday/Saturday, March 17/18, an effort which won an "Excellent" rating for Choraliers and Viking Voices.

Symphonic Hits High Note, Wins 'Superior' For Sixth Time

Consistent with tradition by which bands of PHS have been known to "accomplish the impossible", the Symphonic Band won its sixth "Superior" rating in the OMEA band and chorus contest held here on March 18 — one for every year of its participation since 1971.

...Included in compositions played that day were prepared songs — "Stars and Bars", "Eternal Father, Strong to Save", and "Phedre Overture"—and the sight-read number, "Summation".

...But Symphonic Band members also displayed talent to the community when they played "Star Wars" and other compositions at the annual Festival of Arts, April 9; took part in the outdoor band concert, May 18; and performed at Commencement, June 4.

...All of these appearances climaxed 1977-78 after members had participated in band camp before the opening of school from August 22 to 26. □

End of Year Brings Try-outs For Majorettes, Flag Corps

As May and June brought a close to everything at PHS in 1977-1978 for most students, these months marked the beginning of new activity for others after try-outs were held for Flag Corps and majorettes to accompany the Princeton Marching Band's 130+ instrumentalists in fall.

...Majorettes, Flag Corps, Princettes looked ahead to practice late in summer from August 21-25 during yearly band camp—just as members had sweated in practice here from August 22-26 during the 1977 Band Camp—preparing for the fall marching season.

...Appearing at all nine Viking football games in fall, 1977, the Marching Band also participated in the U.C. Homecoming parade on October 29 —marching off with first-place honor among 21 groups—in the Bearcats' annual extravaganza. □

Although the winter was bitter and dreary outside, the warmth of spirit inside the gym during basketball season made up for the chill as Pep Band —consisting of members from the Symphonic Band— aroused school spirit when the band played at all of the Viking basketball games. ...Meanwhile, the high school Stage Band's schedule included visits to elementary schools within the Princeton District, leading up to the annual jazz concert here on April 13. ...Before becoming members of the PHS Marching Band, Freshman Band practiced for the big time when they performed at the Viking—Hamilton Garfield football game here on Friday, November 4, and at the April 9 Festival of Arts. □

PHS Orchestra Adjusts To New Maestro In Dynamic Year

Victimized by the weather, hindered with too little time, PHS' Orchestra still rendered a dynamic performance in 1977-78, under the baton of its new leader, Mr. Robert Monroe.

...After adjusting to a change in maestros, the first real "opener" saw a team-up with PHS choirs for a memorable Dec. 20 Christmas Concert in Matthews Auditorium.

...Snow rescheduled Feb. 11 state orchestra contest, cancelling PHS participation on May 20 in anticipation of spring musical and "senioritis."

...Members participated in Purlie pit orchestra on March 2-4, with Susan Steiden, Yun Seng Chao, and Charles Brewton as members of Cincinnati Youth Symphony, in numerous performances throughout the year—including the Fall Festival's Pauken Mass.

...A big end to the year came with the District Orchestra Concert on Apr. 6, a sparkling Kismet on May 4-8, winding up with the traditional performance at Baccalaureate on June 4. □

"Cage the Tigers" banner (Above) takes shape as Mark Congdon, Steve Ritchie, Cheryl Ziegler, and Alicia Sheafe work under the watchful eye of 11th grade assistant principal. Junior Ram Holds Its Head High —Largest Class, at 812 Members

Although the horns were up, the running stride was a broken pace as the Year of the Ram faltered in the early going only to pick up the pace in the latter part of 1978 with high expectations of their own year as seniors in '78-'79.

...Including 236 at Great Oaks, 41 at Princeton Valley East, and 535 at the main campus, a total of 812 students toppled the statistic books as the class of '79 represented the largest junior class ever to walk the halls of Princeton.

...Recapturing the office of president after a year's absence in Student Council, Scott Shardelow, along with vice-president Rick Dauer, secretary Lesli Moon, and three-time class treasurer, Steve Ritchie, spearheaded the way for the juniors by joining the other classes in donating $100 to the Fall Festival of Performing Arts.

...Even though for the most part it was a case of "back to the drawing board" as far as scheduled events were concerned—with the class sponsoring only two dances during the entire football-basketball seasons—the juniors chalked up winners with their $200 profit at Homecoming mum sale and $50 at the Viking hat sale before the Oak Hills game on Thursday, Feb. 23.

...With a total of $735.56 in the junior treasury, the Rams of '79 anxiously awaited the April 22 Junior-Senior Prom. □

As 'Old Pros', Sophomores Sell 1173 Roses for $436 Profit

After surviving a "rough" year in '76-'77 as the first freshman class in five years at PHS, the Class of 1980 waltzed through 1977-1978 like "old pros".

...Led by president Dale Craig in his fourth consecutive term of office and vice president Gail Watson, treasurer Rose Ann Culley, and secretary Jeri Williams, the "Year-of-the-Monkey" class had 681 members at PHS and 28 at Princeton Valley East for a total enrollment of 709.

...The yearly sophomore ritual of ordering class rings came on October 21, but a December 7 sophomore frolic was cancelled because of a lack of interest.

...February was a busy month for sophs looking to the future, when —on February 7—266 members toured Scarlet Oaks and Live Oaks Campuses before 66 different speakers visited PHS to discuss career possibilities during small-group sessions in the morning and afternoon on Feb. 15.

... Not to be outdone in fund raising projects by other classes, sophs sponsored a rose sale during lunch outside of the cafeteria from March 6-10 and placed orders for 1173 at $1.00 each, raising a profit of approximately $436 for the class treasury. □

Freshmen Termed 'Cooperative, A Good Group To Work with'

The 1977-1978 school year turned out to be a "good" one for Princeton's freshmen, after they started their high school careers electing officers early in fall—Todd Ferris, pres.; Michelle Talbert, v. pres.; Angela Wilson sec.; and Lynn Fox, treas.

...Introduced to one of the major "social events" of the year, frosh representatives to the court for October 7 and 8 Homecoming events were Darcie Bucklin, Darryl Morton, Jimmy Phelps, and Kathy Shelton.

...Then the Class of '81 sponsored its own event for classmates only, and they raised approximately $200 at the yearly Freshman Frolic on Friday, November 18, as participants joined in basketball, dancing, ping pong, swimming and volleyball throughout the evening.

...Introduced to academic life at PHS, freshmen joined all other students here in taking the Stanford Achievement Tests during the morning on October 5, and then in small groups they underwent the extensive GATB tests early in November to determine dexterity and vocational aptitude.

...Keeping their name before the rest of the school, classmates marched in the Freshman Band during halftime of Band Night on September 23, and they sponsored a sale of "Class of '81" shirts in winter, ordering 29 tee-shirts at $3.00, 60 jerseys at $4.75, and 18 sweaters at $7.50.

...Summing up class attitudes, Dr. Charles Atkinson, 9/10 ass't. prin., called members "cooperative ... a good group to work with." □

Faculty/Staff . . .

These are the men and women who, through their knowledge and action, set an example for students to follow— as well as help their students realize personal talents and purposes for their own responsiblity as future "teachers."

District Wins HEW Suit Before Winter Revises Schedule

Newly elected Board members and administrative leaders of Princeton worked in '77-'78 to meet far-reaching challenges of the fourth largest school system in Hamilton County.

...After four years of court proceedings, Princeton on Aug. 30 received a favorable decision from Judge Thomas Capshaw declaring the district innocent of HEW teacher discrimination charges.

...Weathering the icy grip of the winter of '78, Princeton was faced with voluntary power curtailments of up to 50%—as school was cancelled 12 days late in January and early in February causing revision in the calendar, shortening spring break.

...Remaining deadlocked within a county-wide suit brought by the NAACP in October of '76, Princeton also remained in dispute with PEA members over sanctions in '77-'78. □

Rooms darkened by the energy crisis (Top, Left) highlight the discussions in the main office area of Mr. James Neal, building manager, and Mr. John Seeman, asst. sup't. for building and grounds, on Friday, February 3.

With stands full of fans (Left), Mr. Ferdinand Maccioli helps to arouse school spirit during the outdoor pep rally on September 8 in preparation for the Moeller Game.

Changes in Grade Assignments Introduce PHS '77-'78 Year

With arrival of the '77-'78 school year, a host of assignment changes came for PHS. ...In an effort to improve the administrative leadership for juniors, Mr. Norman Townsel and Mr. Ferd Maccioli agreed to separate responsibility, in place of the former arrangement of having two administrators share responsibilities for the junior and senior classes, while the sophomore and freshman classes retained four assistant principals. ...Challenged with the tasks of executing various jobs, the administrative staff was responsible for maintaining student discipline and having conferences each day, along with the responsibilities of checking performance of teachers, while Dr. William E. Steiden obtained feedback from the staff through the Faculty Policy Advisory Committee. □

Hours of hard work (Above, Right) have gone into this hand-hooked rug given to Mrs. Shirley Browder, Vocational School counselor, by Miss Janet Schatzel (Left) on Thursday, December 22, at the same time that Mrs. Janet Sinks presented a framed picture of Scarlet Oaks to Mrs. Browder.

Counselors Work Daily with Vikes, Help Students Prepare for Careers

Confronting the challenge to meet needs of students and prepare them for post-high-school careers, counselors worked with Vikings daily during '77-'78.

...A rewarding experience, Career Day in mid-February provided the opportunity for sophomores to explore many aspects of vocations, while consultants representing numerous career areas spoke briefly during several class periods.

...Innumerable student-counselor conferences took place in March during the scheduling procedures for the 1978-1979 school year, in which all underclass Vikings utilized the helpful Polaris Curriculum Guide to assist them in optioning for future classes.

...Meanwhile, Miss Mary Meyer had scheduled more than 100 conferences at PHS by representatives from colleges during '77-'78. □

Choosing his words carefully (Above), Mr. Ronald Hacker addresses questions to Congressman Willis D. Gradison while Mr. Paul Dailey, Mrs. Dorothy McCann, and Mr. David Staubitz listen among approximately 50 staff members during "conference call" to Washington from the Fiction Library on October 22 as teachers express opposition to losing their Ohio program.

Concern for Retirement Program Leads to Conference Call in Fall

Wrinkles on foreheads combined with carefully worded questions to reflect concern by approximately 50 teachers and other staff members who met in the Fiction Library from 2:35 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. on Thursday, October 20, for a "conference call" directly to Congressman Willis D. Gradison, in Washington, D.C. ...Arranged by Dr. William E. Steiden, principal, this direct-distance call at the courtesy of Congressman Gradison allowed staff members to express their opposition to proposed legislation before the House of Representatives in HB 9346, which would require all public employees nationally to be placed under provisions of the Social Security System as a means of helping to "bail out" the financially endangered federal retirement program. ...Fighting to preserve their Ohio State retirement fund —to which teacher/employer contribution currently equals 22% of annual salary, providing greater benefits than Social Security— teachers and other staff members locally, statewide, and nationally won their case, at least for the present, with passage of the Fisher Amendment, excluding public employees from compulsory coverage. □

Many Talents Find Expression In Operation Of Princeton

In order to serve numerous students and faculty, operational employees became the base of functions for PHS during '77-'78.

...Sixty-two regular bus drivers made a total of 332 trips to transport approximately 7,521 students each day before Geneva Carter, Darlene Behne, and Bill Rice won 3rd, 5th, and alternate in April at regional bus evaluation competition in Washington Court House, O.

...Cafeteria personnel worked on a new meal plan allowing patrons to "create" their own plate lunch, while cooks worked to prepare approximately 300 lbs. of French fries each day.

...Secretaries and aides assisted staff members by typing and filing endless records, reports, and schedules.

...Ten security men and matrons worked consistently to maintain order on school grounds, while 16 maintenance men performed countless duties for PHS including sweeping corriders and restrooms and washing 100+ chalkboards each day. □

A Few Words About Statistics

Enrollment figures by grade level within Princeton High School, Princeton Valley East and Great Oaks Career Development Centers were obtained from Mrs. Stella Koehler, registrar, and are the student count on October 27, 1977. Enrollment figures by classes and numbers of courses within specific subject areas used in the Academic Section—pages 58 through 83 are figures from the first quarter of the 1977-1978 school year reported by Mr. Lucius Ware, associate principal; these figures are reasonably representative of enrollment in courses for the year, although grade-level and class count naturally vary as students transfer in and out of Princeton, move up in grade level, or leave school as seniors in November, January or April upon completion of graduation requirements. A specific example of this transfer process appears within the block at the end of the senior section on page 221. The Student Prince depended upon computer run-off lists of students by grade level effective on October 27, 1977, which were provided by Mrs. Doris White, supervisor of Data Processing, based upon information provided to her by grade-level offices. These computer lists were the basis for placement of students by grade level within the 1977-1978 Student Prince and for listing students not pictured, found on pages 221, 233, 243 and 253. The Student Prince staff thanks Mrs. Koehler, Mr. Ware, and Mrs. White for their help.

Notes on Typography

Making use of modern, sans serif News Gothic type face, The Student Prince—Quest '78 has body copy set in 10-point News Gothic on 12-point lines, while captions appear in 8-point News Gothic set on 9-point lines, and headlines are in 24-point News Gothic Bold on 24-point lines. Label heads at top of pages appear in 14-point News Gothic Condensed, while kicker heads in the sports section are in 14-point News Gothic Bold. Special effect type found on the cover and on theme development division pages is called Orbit, available through American Yearbook Company. The cover was run in four-color process on the 160-pt. board; and the book was printed on 80-pound enamel, glossy paper at the Clarksville, Tenn., plant of Josten's/American Yearbook Company.

Evaluation Services

The Student Prince staff of Princeton High School, 11080 Chester Road, Cincinnati, Ohio, 45246, maintains membership in the two nationally recognized critical evaluation services: The National Scholastic Press Association, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, 55414; and the Columbia Scholastic Press Association, Columbia University, New York, 10027, after a third service—The National School Yearbook-/Newspaper Association, Texas Tech University, Lubbock, 79409—ceased operation in 1977.

Even though the yearbook is entitled The Student Prince, each year's edition is sub-titled to reflect the theme for that year—Quest '78—for 1977-1978 to portray the student's search for personal development and identity in 1977-1978.

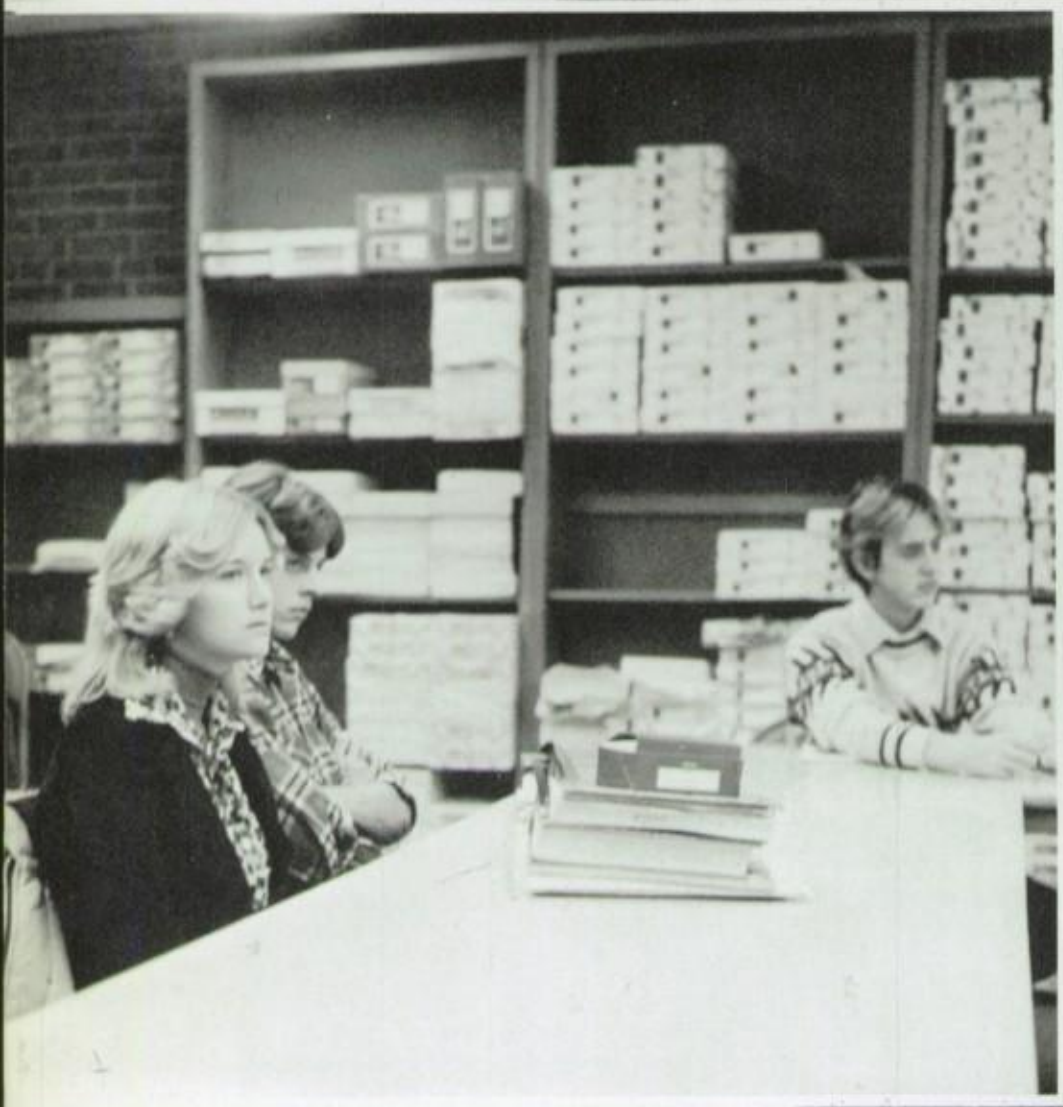
Epilogue. . .

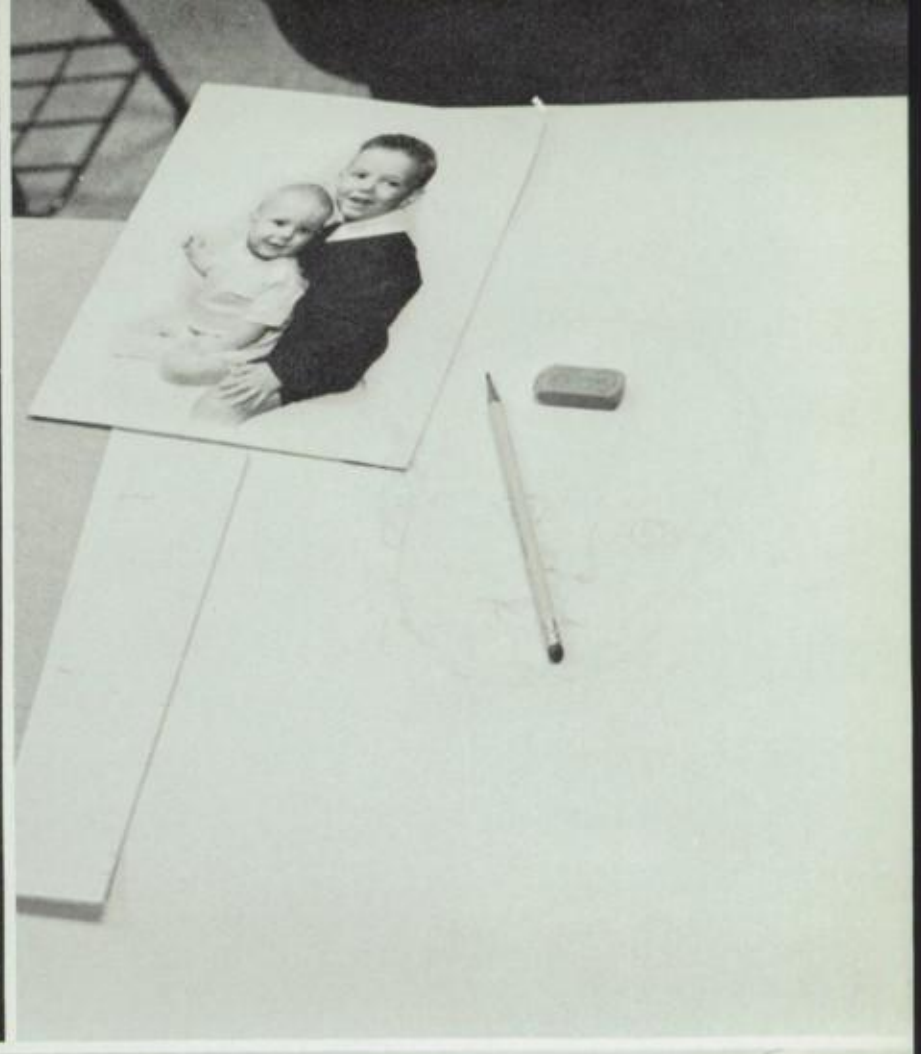


The Vision,
The Conception,
The Sensation
—These are the tools that permit learning.

The Fascination,
The Question,
The Inclination
—These are the tools that initiate learning.

The Perception,
The Emotion,
The Imagination
—These are the tools that further learning.

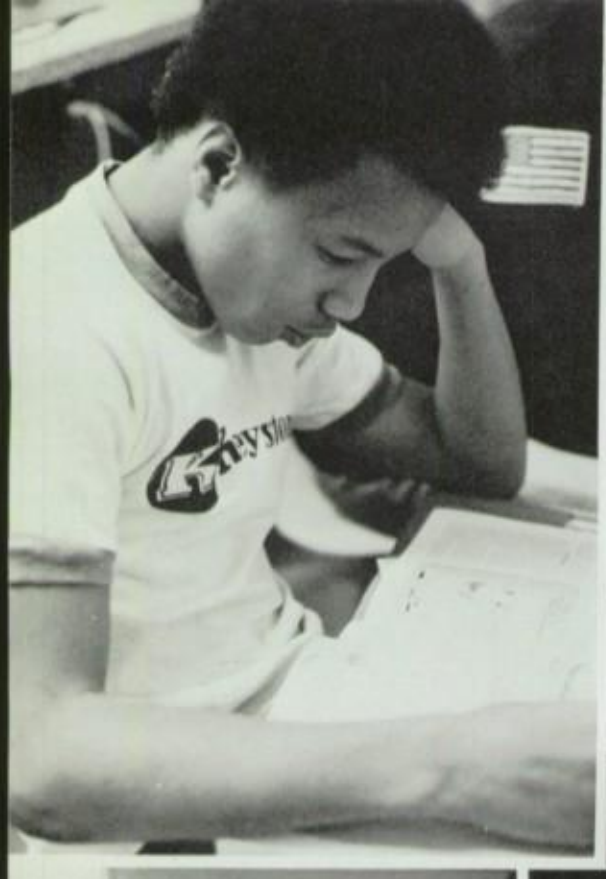
The Resolution,
The Determination,
The Dedication
—These are the tools that sustain learning
And make it a fruit of old age. . .



. . .And when these twelve,
Like the twelve months of the year,
Combine to form a compact unit,
A dynamic and exciting unit,
A unit bursting with vibrance and love of life,
Then that unit is exceptional.

Princeton is that unit.

Its students and teachers and administrators
Work year-round,
Learning to adapt and grow
With the ever-changing seasons. . .



Then, overshadowing its faults
And past difficulties,
Princeton is
The vision, the conception, the sensation,
The fascination, the question, the inclination,
The perception, the emotion, the imagination,
The resolution, the determination, the dedication
That Vikings long will carry with them
—The deep pride and fond memory
Of their four-year QUEST
At Princeton. □
